in early modern england religious sorrow was seen as a form of spiritual dialogue between the soul and god expressing how divine grace operates at the level of human emotion through close readings of both protestant and catholic poetry kuchar explains how the discourses of devout melancholy helped generate some of the most engaging religious verse of the period from robert southwell to john milton from aemilia lanyer to john donne the language of holy mourning informed how poets represented the most intimate and enigmatic aspects of faith as lived experience in turn holy mourning served as a way of registering some of the most pressing theological issues of the day by tracing poetic representations of religious sorrow from crashaw's devotional verse to shakespeare's weeping kings kuchar expands our understanding of the interconnections between poetry theology and emotion in post reformation england domestication challenges our understanding of human environment relationships because it blurs the dichotomy between what is artificial and what is natural in domestication biological evolution environmental change techniques and practices anthropological trajectories and sociocultural choices are inextricably interconnected domestication is essentially a hybrid phenomenon that needs to be explored with hybrid scientific approaches hybrid communities biosocial approaches to domestication and other trans species relationships attempts for the first time to explore domestication viewed from across disciplines both in its origins and as an ongoing process this edited collection proposes new biosocial approaches and concepts which integrate the methods of social sciences archaeology and biology to shed new light on domestication in diachrony and in synchrony this book will be of great interest to all scholars working on human environment relationships and should also attract readers from the fields of social anthropology archaeology genetics ecology botany zoology history and philosophy
